Talks Continue After One-Day Interruption

Red China Issues Another Attack on Russian Policies

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev welcomed Hungarian Communist leader Janos Kadar to Moscow today as Chinese and Soviet delegations resumed their ideological peace talks after a day's interruption.

A new attack on the Soviet party from Peking bolstered reports that the Soviet and Chinese negotiators were making little or no progress toward any significant improvement in relations between the two Communist giants.

Khrushchev returned from Kiev to greet the Hungarian premier and party leader and a large group of Hungarian party and government officials at the Kievsky railroad station. In contrast to the low-key reception for the Chinese negotiators last week, the Hungarians got the full treatment — Khrushchev's presence, a big crowd in front of the station, a live telecast of the arrival, a troop review and playing of the national anthems.

The Soviet premier in his brief welcoming statement made no reference to the Chinese-Soviet negotiations. But Kadar in reply pointedly said the Soviet and Hungarian Communist parties "are guided by similar principles concerning the construction of socialism, concerning all issues and questions of world workers' movements and of foreign policy."

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, used Kadar's visit as the basis for another statement of Soviet opposition to the Chinese hard line.

Referring to the Soviet Union and Hungary, it said: "Our Marxist-Leninist parties, our fraternal peoples, regard the struggle for peace and peaceful coexistence, for universal disarmament, for the exclusion of war from the life of society as the general line of their foreign policy."

That is the crux of the bitter dispute between the Soviets and the Chinese. Peking insists that communism can conquer capitalism only by war. Khrushchev maintains it can win in peaceful competition and that war would bring a nuclear holocaust which would devastate the world.

As Khrushchev was welcoming Kadar, the Soviet and Chinese delegations arrived at the guest house near Moscow university to resume their negotiations.

No reason was given for the failure to hold Tuesday's scheduled session of the talks. It was generally assumed the Chinese were awaiting instructions from Peking following a Soviet Communist party charge that the Chinese appeared to be carrying on a deliberate campaign to aggravate seriously Soviet-Chinese relations. Peking fired back a blistering response, calling the Soviet charges "totally unjustified."

The Chinese statement, distributed by the New China News Agency, said the Russian party "is whipping up a campaign against the Chinese Communist party all over the Soviet Union through meetings and resolutions of party organizations at various levels and through innumerable speeches and articles."

The Chinese party also told the Soviet party they are equals. "No genuine unity can be achieved by adopting an attitude of 'allowing the magistrate to burn down the houses, while forbidding the common people even to light lamps,'" the Chinese statement said.

One source said the Chinese negotiators had renewed Peking's demand for a world conference of Communist parties to adopt a unified policy.

Goldberg Rejected by Unions In Rail Dispute

Justice Gets Carriers' OK As Arbitrator

Kennedy Expected To Take Other Steps To Avert Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — On-train workers turned down today President Kennedy's proposal to let Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg arbitrate the work rules dispute that threatens a midnight nationwide rail strike.

The carriers accepted the presidential plan.

While the operating unions rejected the proposal, they told Kennedy they "most seriously join you in seeking some alternative method of settlement that will preserve the principles of free collective bargaining."

A management spokesman said it was reasonable to expect there would be a suggestion which might head off a strike.

The chief spokesman for management, J.E. Wolfe, told reporters that Kennedy "expects to contact us later today."

I was he who said it was reasonable to believe some further step was in contemplation which might avoid the scheduled walk-out.

The stoppage is planned for 12:01 a.m. local time tonight, the time at which management plans to up into effect work rules changes that would cut off some 40,000 firemen's jobs and perhaps 25,000 more workers.

A letter delivered to Kennedy by the union leaders added: "We hope that you can suggest some other method than the one procedure we cannot accept as a matter of deepest principle, which will act to prevent the railroads from proceeding with their drastic changes in rules, wages and working conditions without agreement."

The union leaders said they had given Kennedy's arbitration proposal "most careful attention and consideration," and they "fully realize the seriousness of the situation."

They said further that they were being asked to agree to a procedure which they believe could pave the way for future "compulsory arbitration by custom or practice."

"This we cannot agree to as a matter of principle," they said. They told Kennedy it would be difficult for him to have selected a more eminently capable arbitrator than Goldberg. They said they have a deep respect for the integrity and ability of the Supreme Court justice, adding that

Foreign Exchange Students Begin Two-Day Visit Here

Foreign Exchange Students Wave, Others Smile Upon Arrival In Salem

Still full of youthful zest after many miles of sightseeing, sprinkled with singing and "arguing," High School well ahead of time and the pupils received an enthusiastic welcome from 33 host families in Salem Tuesday from New Jersey and Pennsylvania for a 36-hour visit.

Loaded with representatives of 20 countries, the bus pulled into the parking lot at Salem Senior High School well ahead of time and the pupils received an enthusiastic welcome from 33 host families.

Mayor Dean Cranmer was on hand to officially greet the boys and girls before they were taken to the host homes for the evening. "We hope you remember your stay in Salem," the mayor told the group, expressing his best wishes for a happy visit.

Wearily of chicken, turkey and ham, many of the youths tact-fully and subtly expressed their desire for other kinds of food. Surprisingly, the youths, remarkably like American teenagers, had little opportunity to taste the big favorite — hamburger. They

Missing Rackets Figure Sought

Probe Into Gold's Murder Continues

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Heavily armed FBI agents and Toledo police were staked out today at a motel where a missing rackets figure sought for questioning in the torture slaying of Mervin L. Gold reportedly was seen.

Police Lt. Edward L. Jarczyński said the stake-out was set up after it was learned that Alex (Shonder) Birns, a Cleveland rackets figure, had registered at the Town House Motel Saturday.

The lieutenant said the sprawling motel on the West Side was put under surveillance after Birns' car was found parked in the lot Tuesday night. An anonymous tip led authorities to the scene, he said.

Birns was seen earlier in the day in the motel's cocktail lounge, Jarczyński said, but he was not in his room when federal agents arrived.

Police have described Birns as a key figure in the investigation of the death of Gold, 33-year-old financial manipulator whose body was found Monday night in a car trunk in an isolated area of Solon 15 miles southeast of Cleveland.

He was linked to the Gold case when affidavits left by Gold with his wife were turned over to the FBI. Birns is wanted for questioning because in the documents Gold said he had received stolen Canadian bonds from Birns as security for loans.

"The affidavit says that on various occasions, between Nov. 1, 1960, and Jan. 5, 1961," U. S. Atty. Merle M. McCurdy said Tuesday, "Gold loaned money to Birns, aggregating $10,000. Then the language becomes ambiguous and it does not make clear whether there were two loans of $10,000 each or one of $20,000."

McCurdy said Birns gave Gold a number of Canadian government bonds as security. Gold said in the affidavit that he posted $55,000 worth of the bonds with the Central National Bank and the Central

City Parking Meter Revenue Shows Decline

A decrease of more than $200 per month in the city parking meter revenue is noted in the first-half of this year compared to the income for the opening six months of last year.

City Auditor Helen Coyne reported today that income for the street parking meters and for the meters in the city's three parking lots totaled $17,378.56 during the initial half of 1963. During the opening half of 1962, the meters yielded $18,794.86, which was $1,416.40 more than this year's first six-month total.

Street meters last year from January through June brought in $15,261.94; this year during the same period the yield was $13,444.75.

Lot No. One (at the corner of Penn Ave. and Pershing St.) yielded $1,682.89 for the first half of this year; $1,303.56 during the corresponding period of last year.

Lot No. Two (on E. State St.) had a revenue of $1,167.99 for the first six months of this year; $1,273.81 for the corresponding period brought in $1,082.93 the opening period of last year.

Lot No. Three (corner of S. Ellsworth Ave. and Pershing St.) six months of this year; $955.65 during the corresponding period of last year.

Senate Tackles 'Sticky Bills'

Adjournment Seen Within Two Days

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio lawmakers returned to the Statehouse today to bring work of the 105th General Assembly to a close.

Leaders said two days would be required to dispose of business still pending when regular working sessions ended June 28.

Senators called up for confirmation a long list of appointments by Gov. James A. Rhodes and squared off to tackle a handful of sticky bills.

The House marked time for the Senate to get under way before calling for a full dress afternoon session.

Among other things, the legislature could consider attempts to override two vetoes by the governor, although no such move appeared likely.

High on the agenda are two measures backed by the administration to bring additional cash into the state treasury.

One would boost the state's liquor markup limit from 30 to 35 per cent. The present markup stands at only 28 per cent but administration spokesmen said the higher limit would put the state in a better position in event of emergencies.

The other measure would permit the state to latch onto bank deposits, stock dividends and other funds unclaimed for 10 years or longer. Termed "escheat" legislation, the proposal would bring in an estimated $10 million the first year and about $2 million annually thereafter.

Sponsors of the measure said escheat funds could be regained at any time by establishing rightful ownership.

Also pending are bills to create a dozen more Common Pleas Court judges in major counties and to revise Sunday closing laws.

Other pending matters include tax exemption for costly devices used by industry to combat air pollution, an increase in fees for notary public commissions and a $1 million sundry claims appropriation.

Leaders said they have yet to determine whether to take final adjournment when work is completed or to recess.

A recess would permit leaders to recall the legislature, but final Creaturo graduated from Wellsville High School in 1958 and Youngstown College in June with a degree in special music education. He has done practice teaching at Girard and Youngstown schools.

William Hayes of Lisbon RD 1, resigned as industrial arts teacher after having accepted a similar position in Wooster school system. Mrs. Pearl Henderson of Youngstown, high school English teacher, also resigned.

Mobile Board Plans Move on Integration

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Ordered by a federal appeals court to start school desegregation in September, the Mobile City-County School Board meets today to consider its next move.

Alabama is one of three states — South Carolina and Mississippi are the others — which have no school integration below the college level. Units of the University of Alabama were desegregated a month ago with the aid of federal troops.

Charles E. McNeil, president of the school board, said no decision on future action will be made until the board and its attorneys have studied the integration order issued Tuesday by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. The court acted only 28 hours after hearing the case on appeal.

"I am sure I speak for the entire school board when I say that we are deeply disappointed by the court's ruling," McNeil said.

Constance Baker Motley, an attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, who filed the original suit March 28, said in New York: "That's the fastest action we ever got. I think this certainly will help speed desegregation in the Deep South."

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who failed in his "stand in the doorway" attempt to block desegregation of the university system, had no comment on the ruling.

West Branch OK's Budget

Paul Butch Named Jr. High Principal

The West Branch School District Board of Education at a public hearing Tuesday night adopted a 1964 budget of $1,316,097, changed two administrative positions and employed five new teachers.

Total expenditures assigned to the general fund are $1,132,545 — with $183,551.99 in the bond fund.

Mrs. Rhea Emmons, clerk, said actual expenditures for 1963 added to expected expenditures for the balance of the year total $1,100,825. The board will be paying $167,965.92 from the bond fund this year.

She said the $15,587 increase next year is attributable to the $310,000 in bonds to be paid off in 1964 as a result of the recently-passed bond issue to finance the construction of the new high school.

Paul Butch, assistant high school principal for the past two years, was assigned to the post of junior high principal at the old West Branch High School building in Damascus. Butch's former post will be filled by Bert Hend-

Youngstown Man Cleared of Charge

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The 7th District Court of Appeals has set aside an indefinite jail term imposed on Dominick Moio of Canton for refusing to answer questions of a deputy state fire marshal investigating the bombing in which rackets figure Billy Naples was killed.

The court ruled Tuesday that Moio, formerly of Youngstown, had the right to refuse to answer the questions of Michael J. Melillo at a hearing. The ruling upsets a Common Pleas Court decision that found Moio in contempt of court.

Moio admitted to police last February that he drove Naples from his home to a bomb-rigged car July of 1962. The marshall was investigating the fire that followed.

The defendant invoked the Fifth Amendment, which protects a person from self-incrimination.

Hearing Continues In Gas Rate Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Tables for opposing attorneys in the $35 million East Ohio Gas Co. rate case are within arm's length. But the lawyers sitting there couldn't be farther apart.

This is the second day of a Utilities Commission hearing which may take as long as three weeks.

More objections were entered during the opening day than usually are heard in an entire hearing. Most came from attorneys for some of the 108 communities involved in the proposed rate increase.

But attorneys for the company also had an objection—to the other side's postponing cross-examination of company witnesses, particularly specialists brought in from New York and Washington at company expense.

Commission Chairman Carl Johnson indicated he would rule today on whether attorneys for the cities can delay their cross-examination.

Most objections from the cities' attorneys center around a so-called "date certain" of Dec. 31, 1960. That's the last day of the last full year before East Ohio Gas filed its 1961 rate request, and valuation of the company's worth is supposed to be as of that date.

Attorneys from the cities say no later evidence should be admitted. Company attorneys contend more recent data is pertinent. Johnson said there probably will be a ruling on this, but he didn't say when.

East Ohio Gas is seeking $33.9 million more a year from residential and commercial customers and $1.1 million from industrial customers.

Commissioners Kenneth B. Johnston and J. Warren Bettis are hearing the case with Johnson. Cleveland's law director, Bronis J. Klementowicz, and assistant law director, James L. Harkins Jr., and City Solicitor Harold E. DeHoff of Canton entered most of the opening day objections and exceptions.

'Tax Break' For Merchants Being Studied

Columbiana County Auditor Kenneth Bell said today he doesn't know what effect Gov. James A. Rhodes signing of the law to give "main street merchants" a $.8 million tax break will have on the county's personal property tax duplicate. Bell said he has not read the new law in its entirety.

The auditor said he had heard that beginning in 1964 personal property taxes are going down 5 per cent, and in five years will be down to 50 per cent of tax valuation on the first $100,000 of retail inventories and equipment.

He said he is only speculating but he thinks that merchants may build up their inventories to absorb the reduction the first year.

The new law is expected to mean a substantial savings in personal property tax for the small businessmen, which means he will have additional money for expansion if he wishes.

The governor said the new law is part of an administration program to create an attractive economic climate for Ohio in which business can flourish and spur employment.

YOUTH DIES IN CRASH

The highway patrol said Farley evidently had turned left in the path of the car three miles east of Utica. The auto driver, Alta D. Strawn, 20, of Rt. 3, Lancaster, was unhurt.

Red Chinese, Soviet Dispute Is More Hostile Than Ever

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Whatever the announced outcome of the Soviet-Chinese Communist talks in Moscow, the war between the two parties seems more intense than ever, and the battle is spreading alarm throughout the world Communist movement.

Communists face the prospect of other factional divisions having little to do directly with the Moscow-Peking split but resulting from its example.

Red China's negotiating team in Moscow is pressing hard for a meeting of Communist leaders from the nearly 90 parties around the world. This would provide a platform for airing Chinese grievances against the Russians.

The Chinese demand for such a meeting on Peking's own harsh terms seems more like psychological warfare against Premier Khrushchev than it does a proposal seriously aimed at settling differences.

Khrushchev undoubtedly takes a dim view of Peking's reported suggestion that voting in a world Communist meeting be based on population, China backed by big parties from the populous Asian Khrushchev's supporters.

Acceptance of that Chinese proposal would be a sign that Khrushchev had suffered a setback serious enough to imperil his leadership.

Advices from Indonesia say that D. N. Aidit, head of the 2-million-member Indonesian Communist party, plans a journey to Peking and Moscow, possibly to propagandize for a world meeting. The trip seems to have the enthusiastic approval of Peking, which probably means Moscow will view it sourly.

Recent statements by Indonesian Communist leaders appear to place them firmly on the side of the Chinese. They approve the notion that what Communists call "just wars" should be welcomed as instruments for spreading communism throughout the world. The Chinese picture Khrushchev and his followers as cowards who fear that so-called "liberation wars" would set off a nuclear war.

This argument has lined up most of the Asian Communists—and tiny Albania in Europe—on the side of Red China. Allied with Peking are the Indonesian Communists, the North Vietnamese, most of the Japanese party, the North Koreans. Remaining with Moscow is the majority of India's party, largely because of Red China's threats to Indian borders.

The Russians are finding it necessary to dragoon their satellite leaders into public displays of solidarity with the Kremlin, as they did with the satellite meeting in East Berlin recently, and with the visit of Hungarian Communist chief Janos Kadar, at this particular moment, to Moscow.

The spectacle of successful defiance of the Kremlin, something new to the world movement, opens the door to development of even more splinter groups.

A case in point is the Swedish Communist party, now gripped by an internal battle over existence of the Berlin wall. Rebellious Communists blame it directly on Khrushchev. They claim the wall has made people suspicious of communism and spread the idea that no Communist party would hesitate to build a similar wall. Dissidents say this has cost them heavily in followers and in votes.

Elsewhere, Communists noting the lack of the all-powerful center that existed under Stalin, feel free to criticize Kremlin policies. Italy's Communist leaders have quarrelled with some of Khrushchev's policies lately. Romania's party, although always a Moscow satellite, disagreed with Khrushchev's attempt to subordinate the Romanian economy to Soviet needs.

Other voices of dissent will be heard as the struggle between the two Red giants develops.

There are two centers of Communist power now—one in Moscow and one in Peking. When Communists dissent from Moscow they have some place to turn for support.

Today is Wednesday, July 10th, the 191st day of 1963. There are 174 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1943, Allied troops invaded Sicily during World War II. In a joint communique to the Italian people, President Franklin D. Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill declared: "The time has come for you to decide whether Italians shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or for Italy and civilization."

On this date: In 1553, Lady Jane Grey was proclaimed Queen of England but reigned only nine days.

In 1780, the French soldier, Count Jean Baptiste de Rochambeau, landed at Newport, R.I., with 6,000 French troops to aid the American colonials against the British.

In 1878, a yellow fever epidemic gripped New Orleans.

In 1928, U. S. paper currency of the present size was issued for the first time.

In 1951, the highest point in North America — Alaska's Mount McKinley — was first ascended on the western side.

Was the Mission Accomplished?

A flurry of speculation last weekend about astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s possible role in Ohio senatorial politics presumably had the result it was intended to have.

The result probably was in two parts. First, the rumor was intended to feel out Col. Glenn's views on the possibility of running for the Senate nomination in the 1964 primary and, if nominated, in the 1964 election.

Second, the rumor was intended to flush out Stephen M. Young, Ohio's junior senator, whose declarations that he would not be a candidate for re-election have been taken at less than face value.

THE STRATEGY behind the circulation of the rumor is obvious.

Ohio Democrats desperately need someone to pull their chestnuts out of the fire. Election of Young to the Senate in 1958 was a fluke, like the election of Michael V. DiSalle to the governorship the same year. It was a result of the all-out campaign of the labor unions to destroy Republicans who backed the right-to-work amendment.

When Gov. DiSalle failed to make even a show of strength in his bid for re-election against James C. Rhodes, the hurricane signals were hoisted.

ROBERT A. TAFT JR. is expected to stand for the U.S. Senate next year after a warmup victory for congressman-at-large in 1962. Someone must be found who can make a showing if Rep. Taft makes the race.

Col. Glenn has indicated he is interested only in the space program.

He will be wise to stick with this single-minded interest. This state's defeat of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket in the 1960 presidential election and its thumping turndown of the DiSalle candidacy in 1962 show clearly that its voters aren't interested in saving face for Democrats.

If No One Played the Bounce

The last time the United States took the Soviet Union out of hot water and clasped it to the generous American bosom, the intent was to destroy Nazi Germany.

This time, if worst fears are confirmed and there is a dismal repetition of the World War II love feast with the Kremlinists, the intent will be to hurt Communist China.

What would happen if no one played the bounce in this latest mismanagement of Russian affairs of state and let the Kremlinites lie in their own bed?

IT WAS THEIR idea to build up Red China with military supplies, raw materials and the know-how to build a nuclear reactor.

It was their idea to make Chinese Communists look good in their heavy-handed efforts to take over uncountried millions of Chinese in the name of Marxist-Leninism.

And it is their dispute with the ideologists of Chinese Marxist-Leninism that is causing the rift which may widen into a schism between Chinese and Russian Communism.

Fishing in the troubled waters of ideological disputes may seem like a shrewd move in these circumstances. There is a less obvious but shrewder move to make, if the United States wants to take a long view?

Let the Kremlin know no one will save it from the consequences of a fall-out with Red China. Tell it what it could have been told when its arrangement with Nazi Germany backfired in June 1941.

TELL IT that a government which boasts it has no friends, only enemies, must expect to find no friends when it gets into trouble.

Tell it not to count on playing off the United States against Red China because Americans once burnt are twice shy. It was played off before.

Warn it not to bet on being caught on the bounce the way it was caught when its nonaggression pact with Nazi Germany disintegrated in 1941.

If the Soviet Union is in trouble, keep it in trouble. For the United States, which never has given even as much as diplomatic recognition to Red China, what else would make sense for Red Russia?

A Limit to Bargaining

H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, says the disagreement with the railroads could be settled in a matter of hours if the government had not intervened. It's an interesting point of view.

What the union president apparently means is that free collective bargaining would confront management with a choice between a shutdown and continuing to hire firemen whose jobs will be discontinued this week if the railroads' new work rules go into effect.

THE WORK RULES have the sanction of a presidential commission that studied the problem of railroad finances.

In a broad sense, they have the sanction of everybody except the employees who would be affected directly or indirectly.

It is obvious the railroads need to be relieved of the cost of work rules that cannot be justified by modern working conditions in railroading.

What is not at all obvious is that this kind of dispute can be settled by old-fashioned collective bargaining — the kind Mr. Gilbert presumably has in mind.

That was pretty well threshed out in the steel industry in 1958, when the union and the mill operators had their historic deadlock on work rules.

THE UPSHOT of that tragic episode was a new kind of collective bargaining that aimed to keep government at arm's length while reaching solutions to work rules problems by mutual agreement in continuous sessions, instead of sporadic sessions.

Steel workers want no more needless strikes that prove nothing and gain nothing. Neither do railroaders.

Always a Threat

The danger of fire has been ever present since man first learned to kindle a blaze by rubbing two sticks together.

Fires, in homes at least, are more prevalent in the wintertime when heating is a necessity but three residence blazes in the district within the past week serve as a grim reminder that flames can start and spread from any one of several causes, sometimes attributable to carelessness. Mid-summer ought to be a good time to check your own home to see if it would pass a fire-inspection test. After a fire is often too late.

Battle of Conscience By Truman Twill

An American for whom I have respect, Ralph J. Bunche, spoke in Aalborg, Denmark on July 4. He told the Danes about the trouble the United States is having.

He predicted it would come out all right. "It is not really the struggle of the Negro but of the American people as a whole," he said. He called it a true social revolution and pointed out that Negroes are pushing it with the encouragement and support of "very many white Americans." He predicted the Negroes' struggle "will soon be completely won."

I think he is letting himself be too optimistic when he sees completeness and quickness in a struggle of this kind. It will drag on for agonizing generations.

The main thing now is that the trend is setting in against irreconcilable elements that long have dreamed of making sure the Negroes' struggle would be lost. They are on the defensive.

These people will never give up. Many never will simmer down. Some will go berserk like that fellow charged with the assassination of the NAACP's Medgar Evers in Mississippi.

Americans who know better will talk as if they had a commission to do something about the fact most of the population of the earth is colored, not white.

They will arrogate to themselves powers of decision over other men no man can have.

That's why Dr. Bunche is wrong when he implies there is going to be a quick and definitive end to the problem of race discrimination. A man of his disposition isn't likely to think this way, but the problem is eternal.

It never can be solved, but with forbearance and intelligence it can be lived with. Negroes can learn to tolerate white men, red men can live with brown men etc.

This is the direction in which we shall make progress if we're lucky. We have a fighting chance to keep ahead of the supermen among us, the ones who have it in their heads to spruce up the world by getting rid of everybody who isn't like themselves.

Every so often they run amuck, reminding us that their civilization is an eggshell veneer that can be cracked loose with one blow.

But at the moment the pressure is against them. As Dr. Bunche says, the American people now are on the plus side in their struggle to win a battle of conscience.

The Danes liked his idea. They stood up and cheered this U.S. Negro who points with pride at evidence his country is winning a battle with its conscience.

It is not the privilege of any member of any race to decide what is to be done with any other race. It is only the privilege of each person to decide what he will do with himself.

Democratic Party Wrestles With Public Grievances

By DAVID LAWRENCE

With the next presidential election just 16 months away, there's something more important for the administration in power to worry about than a slightly declining popularity poll at the moment.

It's perhaps helpful to point out these grievances now so that they may, if possible, be overcome before it is too late.

Some of the present-day criticisms which are reflected to a varying degree in letters reaching many members of Congress and this writer might be summarized as follows:

electorate in the next several months.

Sometimes the disaffection is produced by direct interest of an economic nature, and sometimes it is the result of a disapproval on such broad questions as the handling of the Cuban problem.

"Steady On, M'Boy!"

Romney's Philosophy

Few men have succeeded politically as swiftly as George Romney. He has the respect of men in both parties, and in labor and management. Before leaving for Latin America, Victor Riesel asked Romney to give his basic philosophy. His answer follows.

By GEORGE ROMNEY
Governor of Michigan

Michigan has entered a new and exciting era which has dispelled the gloom that pervaded this capital city for more than a decade.

From a state hopelessly torn by partisan bickering, shackled with an archaic constitution, burdened by a disgraceful deficit, Michigan has been converted into a problem-solving state that is setting some examples for other parts of the country.

Michigan's auto industry is moving toward the best year in its history. Unemployment in the Detroit area during May dropped to its lowest level in more than seven years. The number of new plants under construction is increasing.

Most importantly, a new attitude and spirit of optimism prevails.

IN ORDER to understand this transformation, it is necessary to review briefly the events which dragged Michigan into the dilemma of the '50s and the events which are resolving it from that dilemma in the '60s.

For most of the period before World War II, Michigan was dominated by a Republican party which in turn was dominated by Big Business. But the late '30s saw the birth of another powerful economic force, as thousands of auto workers organized into unions.

The political strength of this new economic force was not utilized until 1948, when the Democrats and the union leaders formed an alliance that ended the long Republican hold on the state administration.

Although Democrats won control of the administrative branch of government, Republicans remained in control of the Legislature.

The two parties, each armed with one branch of the government, squared off in a battle that lasted more than a decade.

THE NADIR of this stalemate occurred in 1959, when the condition of the state's treasury reached such a dismal point that thousands of state employees went without their paychecks.

This sensational development made headlines all over the country and Michigan became the laughing stock of the nation. Business leaders who might have considered locating their plants in the state now regarded Michigan with skepticism.

The sorry incident of the "payless payday" increased the intensity of name-calling and recriminations which had brought about the stalemate.

But it also spurred the activities of enlightened citizens of both parties, who realized that Michigan could not move into the future without replacing the 1908 constitution which kept the state government in a straitjacket.

One of the groups to which these citizens rallied was an organization called Citizens For Michigan, which I had helped form in 1958.

JOINING FORCES with the League of Women Voters and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Citizens for Michigan spearheaded a drive that resulted in the calling of a constitutional convention.

The constitution which evolved from the 7½-month-long deliberations of this dedicated group of men and women is one of the finest state constitutions in the land.

It contains model provisions on civil rights, education, the judiciary, legislative apportionment and the executive branch. It will enable Michigan's state government to deal effectively with the problems of the 20th century.

The adoption of a new constitution isn't the only favorable development in Michigan in recent months.

The legislative session which has just ended was one of the most productive in recent years. Here are some examples of the accomplishments:

It saw the adoption of a state budget which for the first time in years lives within its means. It erased the possibility of an employer being forced to finance a strike against himself through unemployment compensation.

IT STRENGTHENED economic expansion and mental-health programs. It assured Detroit's nomination as the site for the 1968 Olympics. It saw the passage of a construction safety bill which had been sought for years.

Michigan's financial picture has improved so much that the state will end the current fiscal year with a surplus of more than $40 million.

While Michigan's political climate has improved, its economy has also benefited by a steady, undramatic improvement in labor-management relations.

Another example of this occurred recently when Gibson Refrigerator and a UAW local in Greenville, Mich. reached agreement on a new contract that saved 1,600 jobs for the community.

The agreement came in the face of a company threat to move the plant's operations to Mississippi.

IT SIGNALLED the union's recognition that jobs at wages less than it desired were better than no jobs at all. It also revealed the company's recognition that it has an obligation to the community, to the workers and to their families.

Such evidence of enlightened self-interest on the part of both labor and management is only one aspect of the new spirit which has converted Michigan from a problem state into a problem-solving state.

The essence of this spirit is that political groups recognize their progress can be achieved only when differing economic and common purposes and move together toward their common goals.

I hope other states can benefit from Michigan's experience and find the same spirit of responsible citizenship that can solve their own problems.

Webber-Roberts Vows Exchanged In Lisbon

At an afternoon wedding, Sunday, June 30, in the First Methodist Church of Lisbon, Miss Sandra Lee Webber, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Rick of N. Market St., Lisbon, became the bride of Dennis Richard Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roberts of W. Maple St., Lisbon.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 3:30 by the Rev. William L. Brown of Norwalk, former pastor of the Lisbon Methodist Church, before the altar, enhanced by ferns, palms and baskets of white mums and gladioli and lighted on either side by seven-branch candelabra. Pews along the bridal aisle were marked with white satin bows.

The fitted bodice, tapered at the dropped waistline and a long skirt, accented by a large butterfly bow, was centered by two brocade rosettes at the back, from which fell the chapel train. A coronet crown of pearls held her veil of silk illusion. She carried a white satin covered Bible, belonging to her sister, with an arrangement of Stephanotis and baby's breath.

Bachelor Comedian

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Aside from a funny hat or baggy pants, the most traditional prop of a comedian has been his wife. Marriage enables him to stand up in public and deliver such deathless lines as:

"My wife is so crazy about me she'd put a burnt offering before me every morning—except I don't like toast for breakfast."

"My wife is so dumb that when she was cleaning house last week it took her three days to throw away a boomerang."

Milt Kamen is an unusual comedian. He's a bachelor. This cuts him out of telling wife jokes, mother-in-law jokes and father-in-law jokes—half the repertoire of many a standard comic.

Despite this handicap, Kamen, by developing his own wry brand of hilarity, has become a top night club comedian, straight act, and a rising young television panelist.

Why doesn't he marry? "I'm emotionally ready for marriage," Milt admitted. "What bothers me is—I'm not emotionally ready for divorce."

Sometimes I feel sad because I realize I am denying some nice girl alimony.

But he's reasonably sure he'll never wed an actress.

"Before you can finish telling an actress why you love her, her mind begins to wander," he remarked. "She starts thinking about her own career problems."

"My weakness is waitresses, not actresses. Anybody who serves me food I automatically put down as a nice person."

Kamen, reared in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn, that produced members of the Murder, Inc., mob, came up the long, hard, tough, lonesome way.

"I had to fight every day when I was five years old," he recalled. "And by the time I was seven I was punchy."

60 Attend Leetonia Ruritans Anniversary

LEETONIA — On the shores of Horseshoe Lake, Leetonia Ruritan Club observed the fifth anniversary of the club's founding with a chicken barbecue Tuesday night. About 60 attended.

Among guests at Ben Weingart's recreation spot were Floyd Lower, past president of Ruritan National, and members of the Fairfield Ruritan Club who helped organize the Leetonia Club in 1958. They include Weingart, Wayne Rudibaugh and Paul Witmer.

Following the barbecue under the shelter, Lower told the group, "America is a great nation because of its ideals." He urged a strong rural community, which he said is both a challenge and opportunity for Ruritans to meet.

The Ruritan official who is retired Columbiana County agricultural extension agent, declared that membership in the Ruritan means doing community service without the desire for recognition. Ohio now has 48 clubs, all in the eastern area, he reported. One thousand clubs now exist in 19 states since the birth of the Ruritan movement in Virginia.

Ralph Schneider of North Georgetown, Ohio district Ruritan governor, reported that plans are afoot to devise induction ceremonies for new members.

Leetonia Club President Galen Zimmerman conducted the brief meeting, with Harry Ferrall in charge of the program. Ferrall said a second cookout would be held this summer at the home of Charles Seltzer. A board meeting will be held Thursday night at the home of Pete Holloway.

Singing was led by William Beilhart.

Dawes reported that at the present spending the board will be in the red $47,000 by the end of 1963 and by the end of 1964, this will go to $105,000 providing they accept the budget made up by Supt. Oliver H. Payne and Clerk Dawes.

After checking the figures, the board set an executive board meeting for next Tuesday evening. Voters last April turned down the board's request for an additional operating levy of 3-mills and it is expected the board will propose a new levy at the Nov. 5 election.

Nine new textbooks for Grade One and notebook, personal typing, office practice and plain geometry books for high school were approved and ordered purchased for the fall term.

The board renewed its subscription to Croft Education Service at $76 per year and purchased 56 chairs for biology room and language lab at a total cost of $472.20. It also approved the Farmers and Firestone banks as depositories for the school funds for a two-year period beginning Aug. 1.

Durrelle McCamon reported to the board on the school bus repair situation and said buses 6-7 need new motors and 6 need new head. This was estimated at $1,100. He also discussed the repairs of other buses to pass inspection for the coming school term, with the board authorizing the repairs.

Supt. Payne discussed the progress of the summer maintenance program and reported the Lincoln building walls cracking. Coal, gasoline and oil bids will be opened at its next meeting, along with milk and bread supply for coming school term.

The 40-hour work week for non-teaching employees was also discussed.

The board's next regular meeting will be Aug. 13 at 8:30 p.m. in Supt. Payne's office on E. Chestnut St.

With Patients

Three persons were treated and released at Alliance City Hospital Tuesday for injuries received in separate miscellaneous accidents.

Robert Crowder, Jr., 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crowder of Deerfield injured the big toe on his left foot when he dropped a heavy object on it. He was treated at 8:20 p.m.

Four-year-old Mark Hopton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Hopton of North Benton, was treated at 12:30 p.m. for lacerations of the right hand suffered when he ran his hand through a glass door.

Eugene Flint, 31, of Rd. 2, Beloit, suffered burns of the left arm at 9:40 a.m. which resulted when he dropped a heater on his arm while at work at the Purity Dairy.

James N. McClaren of Damascus was discharged from St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Youngstown Tuesday to the home of his son, James D. McClaren of Rd. 2, Salem.

Dale Schmidt, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Schmidt of New Waterford, is in good condition at Salem City Hospital where he was admitted at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday after he injured his thumb while at play.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECAST
NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average about four degrees below normal. Normal high 83-86, normal low 61-66. Little daily change except warming slowly on weekend. Little or no rainfall but a chance of scattered showers on weekend.

"Polled cattle" are those with no horns.

Pupils

were scheduled to be served them and spaghetti today at Timberlans.

Monday evening was spent getting acquainted with hosts. Dr. Donald Lease, president of the Salem chapter of the American Field Service, sponsors of the pupils' year of study in America, had the two collegiate chaperones and several foreign students staying in his neighborhood over for an evening of conversation, fun and joking. The chaperones, Deborah Plumley and Peter Vander Putten, are guests at the Lease home.

Today the three dozen students toured the pretzel factory at Leetonia then returned for a trip through the Senior High School. Gary Starbuck, president of the Student Council for the coming year, arranged the student-conducted tour.

This afternoon was spent relaxing in a variety of ways at the Salem Country Club. Some swam, others boated, danced or played ping pong, tennis or shuffleboard.

A HIGHLIGHT of the students' visit, which came as a surprise to local AFS chapter members, is a talent show to be presented tonight following a 6 p.m. picnic for the students and host families. Several youths will present native songs, dances and comedy numbers. A lighted candle dance and Brazilian singing accompanied by a guitarist are two specialties.

The original talent show group was broken up when part of the company went in another bus to other destinations. Meanwhile, those members of the show who are left on the Salem bus had to revise their acts. This presented some problems. For example, Wendy Christian of Australia, who is staying with Mrs. W. Schrom, had to take on a British accent to put on her act.

Rick Shoop and his Turkish "brother", Atilla Artan, who has arrived here for a year's study at Salem High School, spent part of the evening visiting Miss F. Ahu Zobu, who is staying at the Andrew Kekel residence. Shoop spent three months in Turkey last winter with the Artans in Istanbul.

On Feb. 25, Gold was convicted of posting the stolen bonds as collateral.

Last month Gold was convicted again, this time on charges of obtaining $42,000 through manipulation of assets of the Cosmopolitan Small Business Investment Co. Inc.

Mrs. Gold told authorities her husband had told her last Friday evening he was going to visit Birns that night. That was the last time she saw him alive.

Dr. Samuel Gerber, Cuyahoga County coroner, set the time of Gold's death at around midnight Friday, two hours after Gold had left his $70,000 house in Pepper Pike, a Cleveland suburb. The coroner said Gold was beaten, strangled to death, then shot four times.

Gold was free on bonds totaling $100,000 and was scheduled for a third trial probing his financial dealings when he disappeared.

Meredith said he was appalled by his reception at the meeting.

Rail

"our regard for him as well as for you, our President, makes it even more arduous to prepare this response."

The railroads made their announcement of acceptance of the arbitration plan orally.

"The carriers accept," a spokesman said.

The five operating unions, which stand to lose some 65,000 jobs under the proposed work rules, drafted a reply to Kennedy but refused to release it in advance of the 10 a.m. deadline set by Kennedy for both sides to report back to him.

However, there was one report Tuesday night that the decision had already been made to reject arbitration by Goldberg.

P. K. Byers, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was quoted by the Lewiston (Idaho) Morning Tribune as saying: "The decision has been made."

This was denied in Washington Charles Luna, who said the Goldberg proposal had not been rejected up to an early hour this morning.

Both sides pledged full consideration of the President's proposal when it was presented to them.

Byers was quoted by the Tribune as saying: "We didn't reject Goldberg as arbitrator. If we would accept anybody as mediator, we would accept him above all others. What we are rejecting is arbitration."

Goldberg was Kennedy's secretary of labor until the President appointed him to the Supreme Court last August.

The President's deadline coincides with the July 10 date he set nearly a month ago for the parties to the years-long work rules dispute to settle their differences or face legislative remedy.

Arbitration by Goldberg, Kennedy's former labor secretary, would be final and binding under the President's proposal.

Slated to give the President their answer were members of the same group that met with him at the White House Tuesday to hear the proposal.

The group includes a four-man delegation from the carriers headed by chief negotiator J. E. Wolfe and the presidents of the five operating unions.

Kennedy's proposal was a surprise. A high-ranking government source affirmed that neither the carriers nor the unions were consulted previously.

There was no doubt that the choice of a Supreme Court justice to act as arbitrator was an extraordinary one. But the President let it be known that he considered the circumstances extraordinary with a nationwide railroad strike threatening "economic disruption, dislocation and distress."

The five unions—firemen, trainmen, engineers, conductors and switchmen—are poised to strike

On June 28, however, Wallace pledged that in the event of a desegregation attempt in the state's public schools "I will take appropriate action in keeping with the dignity of our state. I can assure you it will be a forceful stand whatever I do."

The appeals court split 2-1 in overturning a ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas of Mobile and ordering one grade a year desegregation to begin with the first grade this fall. Thomas had directed the board to present a desegregation plan for the term starting in September 1964.

School board attorneys argued that it would not be practicable as an administrative matter to desegregate the schools this fall. The board asked for a delay because it was engaged in a massive school assignments already had been made and teachers and funds allotted.

the moment the railroads carry out their announced intention of putting the new work rules into effect.

The new rules would eventually eliminate 65,000 jobs — 40,000 of them firemen. The total membership of the five unions is about 200,000.

The railroads say the jobs slated for elimination are "featherbedding," or make-work jobs which cost them $600 million a year. The unions claim the jobs are necessary for safe operation of the trains. The dispute has been building toward a climax for about four years.

Regarded as the biggest variable was congressional reaction to an actual strike. The idea was advanced that Kennedy's unusual proposal reflected uncertainty as to what Congress would do to meet the situation.

Remaining as possible steps should the strike actually develop were compulsory arbitration, government seizure of the railroads, or a combination of the two.

Roy E. Davidson, head of the Independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said he did not believe the idea for the Goldberg arbitration proposal was Kennedy's at all.

"It's the Labor Department's," said Davidson. "It sticks out all over it."

A discussion was held on the possible renewal of a 10.1 mill operating levy which expires in December, but action was tabled. The levy was 11 mills when it was passed in 1958 but was reduced two years ago by the County Budget Commission after the reappraisal. The levy furnishes about $250,000 a year.

The board has been given approval by the State Department of Education to purchase four new buses.

In other action, the board voted to buy fire extinguishers for the new building from Fire Equipment Sales and Service Co. of Sebring; six backstops for the new gym from Cleveland Sporting Goods; and a scoreboard for the gym from Fair Play Co. of Iowa.

Hugh Benner of Knox Township was given a contract to slag the new high school parking area; First National Bank of Salem was given a depository contract; Purdy Dairy of Beloit was awarded a contract to provide milk; and Charles Cartwright of North Benton was authorized to do work in the sewing area. Tolerton Lumber Co. of Alliance will provide student benches in the shop area.

Willie Mays Leads National Stars To 5-3 Victory

Scores Twice, Steals 2 Bases

Game Attracts Only 44,160 At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—It's a good thing Willie Mays was there.

Willie was not the whole show. He had help in leading the National League to a 5-3 all-star victory over the American League Tuesday.

But without the brilliant San Francisco center fielder, the 34th All-Star show would have been a bust.

First of all, only 44,160 paying customers attended, filling about half of the huge Municipal Stadium. The players and club owners were keenly disappointed. Conservative estimates had been for between 60,000 and 70,000. Fans Are Disappointed

The customers also were disappointed but for another reason. They had paid $6 and $8 a ticket to see the greatest National League stars, some of them for the first time. But they never got to see Sandy Koufax, the senior circuit's best pitcher; Warren Spahn, who keeps on defying age and enemy batters with reckless abandon; and Juan Marichal, San Francisco's superb young right-handed star who recently defeated Spahn in a spectacular 16-inning 1-0 duel.

What they saw was a lackluster game with routine plays, fair pitching, mediocre fielding and somewhat less than robust hitting. The biggest hit was a double by the American League's Albie Pearson, the littlest All-Star of them all.

The National League scored the tie-breaking run without the aid of a hit, the run crossing the plate when New York Yankee Joe Pepitone chose to make an unassisted out at first instead of throwing to the plate.

The National League managed only six hits, and four of those were scratchy. The American League had 11 hits but also nine another Yankee, had the misfortune to hit into two double plays. The little second baseman, usually sure-handed missed a throw by third baseman Frank Malzone which led to a run.

The biggest noise came when the fans booed whenever a Yankee came to bat. Unfortunately, the Yankee contingent did little to cover itself with glory. Pepitone, the only American League to go all the way, went 0 for 4 hit into four outs in two times at bat. Only Jim Bouton, the young pitcher, did well. He hurled one perfect inning.

Strikeouts and Bobby Richardson, Yankee Stars Are Boomed

And struck out twice. Richardson

But the crowd loved Mays. And Willie earned every bit of their adoration.

He got only one hit, a sharp, run-scoring single. But he scored twice, drove in two runs, stole two bases and, of course, made the best catch, even if it didn't match some of his more spectacular catches.

That was in the eighth inning when the "Say, Hey Kid" ambled to the center field fence, 380 feet, to haul in Pepitone's fly. Willie banged his right toe against the wire fence, limped in pain for several seconds, then leisurely jogged to the dugout.

"Now, I didn't hurt myself," he said later. "Not even a bruise. I can't afford to hurt myself. I gotta play tomorrow. I gotta play every day."

It was Willie who scored the first run, after drawing a second inning walk and stealing second against right-hander Ken McBride. It was Willie who broke a 1-1 tie with a sharp third-inning single and it was Willie who broke a 3-3 tie in the fifth with a run-scoring infield grounder.

Roll To 5th In Last

"I don't care where you are, Mays always helps you," said San Francisco manager Alvin Dark, who piloted the National League to their fifth victory in the last seven games, with one ending in a tie. The National now trails overall, 17-16-1.

Dark employed 18 players while Houk manipulated 21 of his 25 men. Each used five pitchers.

Larry Jackson, who succeeded starter Jim O'Toole, was hit the hardest, but was credited with the victory. Jim Bunning, who took over for starter McBride in the fourth, yielded one unearned run in two innings but was charged with the loss. His streak was broken after nine consecutive scoreless innings in All-Star competition.

Rookie Ray Culp of Philadelphia, southpaw Hal Woodeshick of Houston and the Dodgers' great Don Drysdale finished up for the Nationals. Bouton, lefty Juan Pizarro of Chicago and Dick Radatz, Boston's brilliant relief ace, finished up for the American League.

Gold Bar, Old Dutch Continue To Roll

Guiler's One-Hitter Features 3 Shutouts In City Softball Loop

"Judge" Guiler gave up only one hit in the first inning, then went on to hurl Salem Merchants to a 4-0 victory over Salem Moose 571 in City Softball League competition at Kelley Field Tuesday night.

Gold Bar, with the Class A loop title already wrapped up, shutout Barnett-Purity 5-0; and Old Dutch disposed of its chief opposition for the top spot in the "AA" division by knocking off second place Stepanic's 3-0.

The Merchants, 10-5 in the double A bracket, handed Class A's Moose its eighth setback in 18 starts.

THE WINNERS SCORED three runs in the first inning on a hit batter, fielder's choice, single and doubles by George Alek and Wayne Walters.

Losing hurler Dom Pompelia was the only batter to get a hit off Guiler as he singled in the first.

Gold Bar took advantage of three walks in the second inning to grab a 3-0 lead. A fielder's choice and a single by Chuck Wilson produced the margin.

John DeFavero socked a two-run homer in the fourth.

Wilson led the winners with two hits. Dick Schaffer had two singles for the losers who outhit Gold Bar 5-4.

Jim Barnes got Old Dutch rolling in the fourth inning with a home run. The winners added two insurance runs in the sixth on a walk, two errors and singles by winning pitcher John Stoffer and Barnes.

Jim Roach, Dick Drakulich and Carson McNeely were the only Stepanics batters to get hits off Stoffer who struck out six and walked none.

Palmer Favored In British Open As 120 Tee Off At St. Annes

ST. ANNES, England (AP) — Supremely fit and confident, Arnold Palmer led a field of 120 into the first round of the 72-hole British Open golf championship today and again he was the man to beat.

Determined to win his third straight British title, the Latrobe, Pa. professional polished his game to almost perfect pitch in practice and brought it to a culminating four under par 66 Tuesday.

That performance simply cemented his role as 2 to 1 favorite. "I like it here and I am playing well," said Palmer in the understatement of the week.

D'Amato Says Patterson Can Win Title By Concentrating

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Concentration can give Floyd Patterson a victory in his rematch with heavyweight champion Sonny Liston, veteran fight handler Gus D'Amato says.

D'Amato, who guided Patterson in most of his fights, thinks the challenger will turn the tables on Liston here July 22 and regain the title.

"Patterson was a distracted fighter when Liston kayoed him last September," D'Amato said. "He made one fundamental mistake. Instead of hitting and getting out of there, and instead of staying in close after he went in for the in-fighting, Floyd got caught just standing there doing nothing."

D'Amato said Patterson told him in the dressing room after the fight that he felt out Liston to see what he could do and discovered that he wasn't as strong as he anticipated "and then I got caught with those left hooks."

"Liston is a very good fighter, as good as anybody in an era," said D'Amato, "but so is Patterson, and all he needs to do is to concentrate on his job this time."

D'Amato was not in Patterson's corner in the last fight, and if he is to handle the challenger in this one he will have to get a license from the State Athletic Commission.

North Jackson Team Whips Randolph 9-2

North Jackson rallied in the late innings to win its ninth game in eleven starts by downing Randolph, 9 to 2, at North Jackson Tuesday. The score was tied at 2-2 going into the last of the fourth inning.

Three walks, a hit batsman, two fielders choices, and a single scored four runs for the winners. They added three runs in the sixth inning for insurance.

Williams of Randolph, held North Jackson to four hits, one each by James, Sinn, Keck, and a triple by Cochran. He struck out nine, but nine walks and a hit batsman led to his defeat. Martin held the losers to three hits, striking out six, and issuing no walks.

North Jackson can wrap up the title in the Portage Southern F League by winning two of their three remaining games. They meet Rootstown at Rootstown Friday.

British Boxer Curvis Beats Miami's Cliff

CARDIFF, Wales (AP)—British welterweight champion, Brian Curvis, fresh from a decision over Sugar Cliff of Miami Beach, Fla., said today he is now ready to take on world champion Emile Griffith of New York.

The 25-year-old Welshman said he hoped to meet Griffith either in Cardiff or New York's Madison Square Garden this fall.

"The arrangements are being worked out," he said.

The hard-hitting Welshman found Cliff awkward to hit in Tuesday night's 10-rounder, but had the American groggy in the ninth round.

Curvis, rated first and fourth in the world rankings by Ring Magazine and the World Boxing Association, has lost only one of his 26 fights. Cliff, 21-year-old native of the Bahamas, has now lost two and drawn one in 28 contests.

Cliff said in his dressing room after the fight:

"Curvis is very good but I still think Griffith will be a little too much for him at the moment."

Curvis, who had been cheered on by 10,000 Welsh fans in Cardiff's open air Maindy Stadium said:

"Now for Griffith. My brother Cliff is tackling the committee of a local stadium. If we can get the stadium we will fight Griffith here the second week in September."

Curvis said that if local arrangements fall through, the fight will probably be in New York.

BROWNS GET DON MULLINS

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

People swarmed all over Lake Guilford over the 4th of July weekend. Campers were turned away, all outdoor grills were in use and not one picnic table was available to the late-comers.

More appropriations will have to be made by the Ohio Parks section if they intend to keep pace with the public demand for use of this fine recreational area. There were approximately 2,500 holiday swimmers in the beach area.

The steady stream of traffic threw up a regular dust storm on the gravelled roads leading in and out. It wouldn't take much to blacktop these roads or at least keep them oiled before the rush is on.

No criticism is justified against the park manager as he can spend only the appropriations made and when this runs out, that's it.

Walter Burbick, the manager, warns that the swimming beach is open only from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Swimming cannot be allowed any other hours as there will not be a lifeguard on duty. Neither is this area intended for the "lovely-doves" to use after dark. Park police will see to that.

THE EXPERIMENTAL USE of copper sulphate at Zeppernick Lake has ended. I have not heard the results of this experiment yet to see if copper sulphate causes an increase in the creel census by stimulating the fish movements.

One of the boat fishermen from Stark County pulled ashore with a fish hook imbedded in his wrist just above his wrist watch. Mrs. Kenneth Roberts, a registered nurse, who was present, removed the hook and advised the victim to see his doctor for a tetanus shot.

The fisherman reported that he had hooked on to two lunker bass but lost both, and he saw a man in another boat land one which looked 20 inches long.

I always thought dark glasses were worn by people whose eyes were sensitive to light, but after observing some beach patrons, I realize they do this so they can keep their head in one direction and roll their eyes in the other as a bikini-clad swimmer walks by.

A COSTLY DANCE
PHOENIX, Ari. (AP) — Tim Flood, Brophy Prep all-state quarterback, went through football and a season of golf unscathed.

Then at a school dance, a friend gave him a cheerful tug on the shoulder in way of welcome. It wrenched the athlete's arm and sidelined him for the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

Savic, Wright Tie For Lead With 72s In Ohio Amateur

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associate Press Sports Writer
ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Two Columbus birdie shooters led the way today as the 36-hole qualifier for the 57th Ohio Amateur Golf Championships went into its second round.

Holding a one-stroke edge over the field of nearly 250 were Pandel Savic, 38-year-old industrial glove manufacturer who quarter-backed Ohio State's 1950 Rose Bowl team, and Craig Wright, 34-year-old attorney who once captained the University of Kentucky links team.

Each fired six birdies Tuesday as they fashioned their 35-37-72 scores over Elyria Country Club's 6,326-yard par 72-course.

At the end of today's round the 63 low scorers will join Tony Blom Jr. of Cincinnati, the 1959 and 1962 champion, in match play running through Sunday. Double rounds over the 18-hole route will be played Thursday and Friday, but Saturday's semi-finals and Sunday's championship jaunts will be 36-hole events.

Chasing Savic and Wright into today's round were some of the state's top amateurs. At 73 were Jim Logue of Springfield and Dick Allison of Columbus; Bob Hoag of Columbus and Tom Stolly of Lima, two insurancemen; ; Bob Bourne Jr. of Oberlin, who lead the first round of the recent state junior meet; 52-year-old Edwin Preisler of Cleveland, who won the State Amateur in 1946, and classy Alex Antonio Jr. of Hubbard, Ohio's high school champion the last two years.

Savic's quarterback understudy at Ohio State, Bill Petersen of Cleveland, was in a seven-way deadlock another stroke back at 74. That bracket included Carl Unis of Cleveland, Dr. Mel Woelfling of Toledo, Bob Seyler of Mansfield, Jack Hester of Columbus, Jim Gruden of Fremont, and Don Gill of Cincinnati, who several years ago won the State Seniors championship.

From there the scores over the windy, tree-infested course soared into the 90s, and indications were a total of 156 would be necessary to get into the charmed match-play circle.

A RARE ACE
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A. J. Haswell of Oklahoma City dropped his tee shot about 2 inches from the hole on the 145-yard 13th hole at the Skyline Country Club.

Skyline owner Leonard Savage said he, too, put his shot on the green, it bumped Haswell's ball and pushed it in to give the Oklahoman a hole-in-one.

Employees Get Over One Day's Pay for Two Hours Work

Special Study Group Agrees With Industry In Rail Feud

EDITOR'S NOTE — Proposed work rules changes that would eventually eliminate 66,000 jobs are at the core of a threatened nationwide railroad strike. The lines contend the jobs are unnecessary. The unions insist they must protect the jobs of their members.

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK AP—A Chicago-Denver train, taking 16½ hours to cover 1,034 miles, changes engine crews eight times en route roughly every 130 miles.

Employees average two hours in the cab collect one and one-quarter day's pay.

Railroads contend such use of manpower and payroll money is wasteful and have vowed to change the work rules that require it. Unions representing the men who would lose their jobs have threatened a nationwide strike to protect them.

For the railroads, $600 million a year paid for what they consider make-work jobs — "featherbedding"—is at stake. At issue for nearly 200,000 firemen, engineers, switchmen conductors and brakemen are the jobs of up to 66,000 of them.

About 40,000 of the jobs that would be eliminated are held by firemen. This is the single biggest rub, although there are scores and scores of others, all wrapped up in the disputed work rules, in effect management-union contracts.

Railroad executives say the roles of firemen on freight train diesel locomotives and in switchyard service are obsolete.

The need for firemen, they argue, disappeared starting about 20 years ago. That was when automatically fueled diesel engines began to replace coal-burning locomotives whose fires were stoked by firemen.

Unions contend that although his title is outmoded, the fireman is important as a copilot for the engineer.

"The helper acts as a second pair of eyes, a lookout," a union spokesman said. "he performs a safety function."

H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, says 190 train crewmen were killed in accidents in a recent year.

On most work rule points, a presidential railroad commission reported to President Kennedy in February 1962 that it agreed with the management position. The operating practices for 15 months. Simon H. Rifkind, a former federal judge who headed the commission, was emphatic about firemen, holding they no longer were needed.

"Of that I'm certain. I went out and saw for myself," Rifkind told newsmen. The commission recommended a halt in hiring of firemen for freight and yard service duty, dismissal within a year of 13,000 firemen with less than 10 years service and release by attrition—death, retirement and the like—of 27,000 others.

Displaced firemen would get dismissal pay of up to 60 per cent of regular checks for up to 36 months, preference in rehiring and two years of retraining at railroad expense.

Gilbert rejected the commission report as "harsh, inhumane and retrogressive."

He assailed a recommendation for arbitration of conflict over changes in sizes of train crews.

"You can submit working conditions to binding arbitration sometimes," said Gilbert, "but you don't submit the life and death of jobs."

It recommended abandonment of the 100-mile day, once widely regarded as a fair day's work, as no longer realistic. It proposed 160 miles instead.

Unions answered that the commission position would mean longer hours and less pay. Engineers would take pay cuts of up to 80 per cent, they said.

CORONER RULES

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—The Lorain County coroner has ruled Mrs. Joseph Ksenich smothered her three children July 4 before she died of smoke inhalation from fires she set at their home.

Coroner Paul J. Kopsch ruled Tuesday the 42-year-old woman first put the children to sleep with an aspirin-like compound, then smothered them in their beds. They were Joan, 12, Jane, 10, and Larry, 7.

EX-DEPUTY PLEADS GUILTY

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Paul C. Decker, one of eight Stark County sheriff's deputies fired last February and charged with various counts of burglary, robbery and receiving and concealing stolen goods, has pleaded guilty to theft.

Decker, 38, had pleaded innocent and was to be tried in about two months. He asked Common Pleas Court Judge John Rossetti for probation Tuesday and the judge said he would consider it.

Chilled Soup Is Now In Season

When recipes go roaming, it's a sign that they're particularly interesting.

Cooks from one state taste a dish in another, then bring the idea home to roost.

That's what has happened to Madrilene Russe, a combination of jellied red madrilene, red caviar and avocado.

This unusual way of serving a favorite jellied soup probably originated in New York, where we first tasted it.

Next we met up with the trio during a New England weekend at a home where the food was especially good.

Now cooks up and down both coasts are using the combination in various ways.

At our house we offer a slight elaboration of the original rule. We serve Madrilene Russe with lots of accompaniments, lazy-susan style. Nothing seems to please guests more than helping themselves to toppings, whether potatoes or sundaes.

MADRILENE Russe
(Lazy Susan Style)

3 cans (about 13 ounces each) red-colored consommé Madrilene 1 jar (2 ounces) red caviar, well-drained, 2 avocados, lemon juice, 2 hard-cooked eggs, diced, 4 scallions (green onions) sliced thin crosswise, Ripe olives, pitted and sliced, lemon wedges, 1/2 pint sour cream.

Follow directions on can for chilling Madrilene so it will jell. At serving time, turn the jellied Madrilene into a serving bowl.

Flake with a fork, mixing in caviar lightly. Cut avocados into lengthwise halves; twist apart and remove seeds; cut crosswise into crescents and strip off skin; dip crescents into lemon juice. Serve with eggs, scallions, olives, lemon wedges and sour cream as help-yourself toppings.

Note: The avocado crescents, dipped in lemon juice as directed above, may be refrigerated for 30 minutes before serving. The 3-ounce jar of red caviar listed above yields about 3 tablespoons.

Most people take their telephone for granted and are unaware of the stupendous operations which go on behind the scenes to make the telephone instrument about as handy and fool-proof a gadget as exists anywhere. These facts may be of interest:

An average telephone pole weighs 1000 lbs. and costs $30.00, not counting the setting.

Some small things in our business aggregate to bigness. For example, the heat coil at the end of each wire in the central office costs only ten cents. But it takes row upon row of these tiny coils amounting to thousands, to properly protect the exchange.

A single, standard reel of 2100-pair cable weighs over 6000 lbs., contains 18,900,000 feet of wire—4000 miles, or more than enough to reach from coast to coast.

Incidentally, all of the wire and cable in use by all the telephone companies today would provide a single wire long enough to reach to the sun and back or about 186 billion miles.

Our company is an active member of the Independent Group of telephone companies in the United States. We are continuing to keep up with modern policies and methods. We are constantly striving to make improvements in our plant and equipment so that our subscribers may have the very best service possible, furnished by the most modern equipment.

Good Cake For Weddings

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Every month is bride's month. July and August have their share of wedding receptions either at home or outdoors in flower-filled rooms. Mother and daughter together can plan the wedding reception and share the excitement of making this charing Honey Wedding Cake. Sweet heart roses are tucked into a slim vase in the center of the cake. Serve chilled champagne or fruit punch with the cake for a perfect reception menu.

FRUITED HONEY WEDDING CAKE

1 cup shortening, 3/4 cups sifted cake flour, 4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 cup milk, 2-3 cup honey, 2 teaspoons almond extract, 6 egg whites, 1 cup finely chopped candied cherries, 1/2 cup finely chopped citron, 1 1/2 cups chopped walnuts, Fluffy Honey Frosting, 1-3 cups (about) flaked coconut, few drops red food coloring.

Stir shortening to soften. Sift together measured flour, baking powder, salt, and 1/2 cup sugar. Add milk, honey, almond extract, and flour mixture to shortening. Mix until all flour is dampened. Then beat 2 minutes at low speed of electric mixer or 300 vigorous strokes by hand.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add remaining 1/2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until thoroughly blended. Continue beating until meringue will stand in soft peaks. Add meringue to cake batter and beat 1 minute longer in mixer, or 150 strokes by hand. Fold in cherries, citron and walnuts.

Four batter into a greased and lightly floured 10-inch tube pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour and 15 minutes, or until cake tester inserted in cake comes out clean. Cool in pan at least 30 minutes. Remove from pan; cool completely. Wrap well or store covered, at room temperature.

A few hours before serving time, spread cake with Fluffy Honey Frosting. Tint coconut a pale pink with a few drops of food coloring, and pat gently on sides of frosted cake.

COOKING IS FUN
2 1/4 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 cup butter or margarine, 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar, 1 egg (beaten until thick and pale colored), 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/4 cup finely dried crystallized ginger (lightly packed).

Sift together the flour and baking powder. Cream butter and sugar; add egg and vanilla; beat to combine. Stir in sifted dry ingredients and ginger. Wrap tightly and chill overnight. Make small balls (about the size of a large marble) of the mixture and place a few inches apart on an ungreased cookie sheet; press balls about 1/4-inch thick with palm of hand. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven about 12 minutes.

NOTE: Rinse ginger in hot water to soften before slicing and dipping.

Baked Eggs And Bacon Tasty

If ever there was a variation on a menu theme it is the breakfast egg. Scrambled, fried, soft cooked or hard cooked, just to mention a few; there is an egg version for every taste.

Now all this cooking to order is all right when breakfast is an on-the-run matter for each family member. But, when all can get together and sit down and enjoy this meal you can assemble bacon, eggs and toast into one entree that everyone will enjoy.

This entree is Baked Eggs and Bacon Rings. Instead of traditional toast, the eggs and bacon are nestled atop split enriched sandwich buns.

Serve with chilled tomato juice and hot coffee.

BAKED EGG AND BACON RINGS

6 slices bacon, 6 eggs, 3 sliced sandwich buns, toasted.

Cut bacon slices in half and place on a wire rack in a shallow baking pan; bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for twenty minutes, or until bacon is just brown, but not crisp.

Remove from oven and criss-cross 2 bacon strips in the bottom of each individual custard cup.

Gently place egg over bacon in each cup. Return to oven and bake for twelve minutes, or until the eggs reach desired stage of doneness. Serve each ring on a toasted sandwich bun half.

Yield: 6 servings.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

A lot of really wonderful things go on around us which many of us never realize or appreciate. At Canfield Fair grounds from Thurs., July 18th through Sunday, July 21st the 20th Youngstown Charity Show will be held. This show has been officially rated an honor show for the current year by the American Horse Show Assn. The profits from this great show go to several very worth while groups including aid to the blind. We have tickets for sale here at the Country Store. Ask for yours the next time you are down our way.

WEALTH OF THE NATION — Viewed in one way, federal government spending in the U.S. has risen astronomically in this century — from about half a billion dollars in 1900 to almost $108 billion last year. By another yardstick, however — per cent of gross national product — spending has increased only modestly. (GNP is the estimated total worth of all goods and services produced by the country.) As News-

Graphic shows, in 1900 federal expenditures amounted to about three per cent of GNP; in fiscal 1962 they were 19 per cent. The conclusion by economists is that federal spending since World War II has risen at a pace only moderately faster than that for the economy as a whole. Most of the spending has been for defense, but a growing amount goes into social programs. Data from U.S. Treasury Dept.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Health Questions, Answers

Q—My husband gets canker sores in his mouth. He has used many treatments but they always come back and are hard to get rid of. What causes them and is there any cure?

A— Canker sores are usually caused by a virus. But in some persons a food allergy appears to be the cause. Recurrences are the rule rather than the exception.

A new chemical, 5-iododeoxyuridine, has been found to cure the disease. A solution of the drug is painted on the sore or it is applied in an ointment. Healing occurs in 1 to 5 days instead of the usual 2 or 3 weeks. Furthermore recurrences are apparently checked although the drug has not been used long enough to be sure of this. The drug is not yet on the market but it can be obtained from Smith, Kline and French by your doctor.

Q—My doctor says I have nasal polyps which must be removed. Is this a serious operation?

A— Although all operations are serious, the removal of nasal polyps is relatively simple. Since such polyps are often caused by an allergy you should have this angle investigated. If allergy is the cause and it is not treated, the polyps will return after they have been removed. If they are interfering with your breathing they should, of course, be cut out.

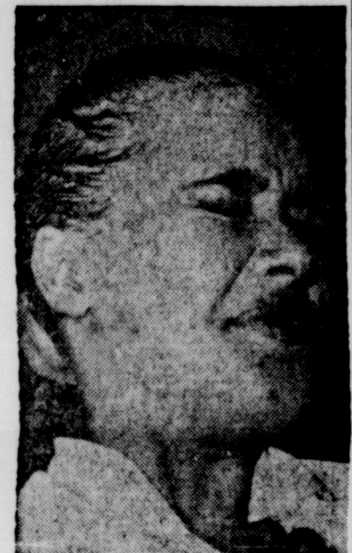

Q—Will the prolonged use of nicotinic acid have any side effects? It was prescribed along with meclizine (Bonine) for dizzy spells.

A— Small or moderate doses of nicotinic acid, which is a vitamin, may be taken for prolonged periods without harmful side effects. Very large doses may cause flushing of the face and neck, but even this is not harmful and quickly passes.

Q—My 17-year-old daughter has severe cramps with the onset of each menstrual period. These cramps may make her vomit. Nothing she has ever tried has helped her. What would you suggest?

A— Although menstrual cramps are common they are not usually as severe as those you describe. Since the usual pain killers have not given any relief, your doctor may want to have your daughter try dieneestrol (Synestrol) daily in the interval between her periods. The dose must be carefully adjusted to meet your daughter's individual need. This drug has relieved 90 per cent of those on whom it has been tried.

If this does not work, emotional factors must be sought because some girls build up enormous tensions over this natural function. If this is the cause, the sympathetic guidance of a doctor trained in treating emotional difficulties should be consulted. In extreme cases the sympathetic nerve roots coming out of the lower segments of the spinal cord have been cut, but such extreme measures are rarely advisable.

PRICE OF BEAUTY — Theodora Thordardottir, Miss Iceland in the Miss Universe contest, shows what tortures women go through to look beautiful. At top, she grimaces as a hair-dresser squeezes the suds out of her hair after a shampoo. Bottom, she indicates that it was all worth it as she views the finished hairdo in the mirror.
